

EPAH TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE

EPAH international annual conference

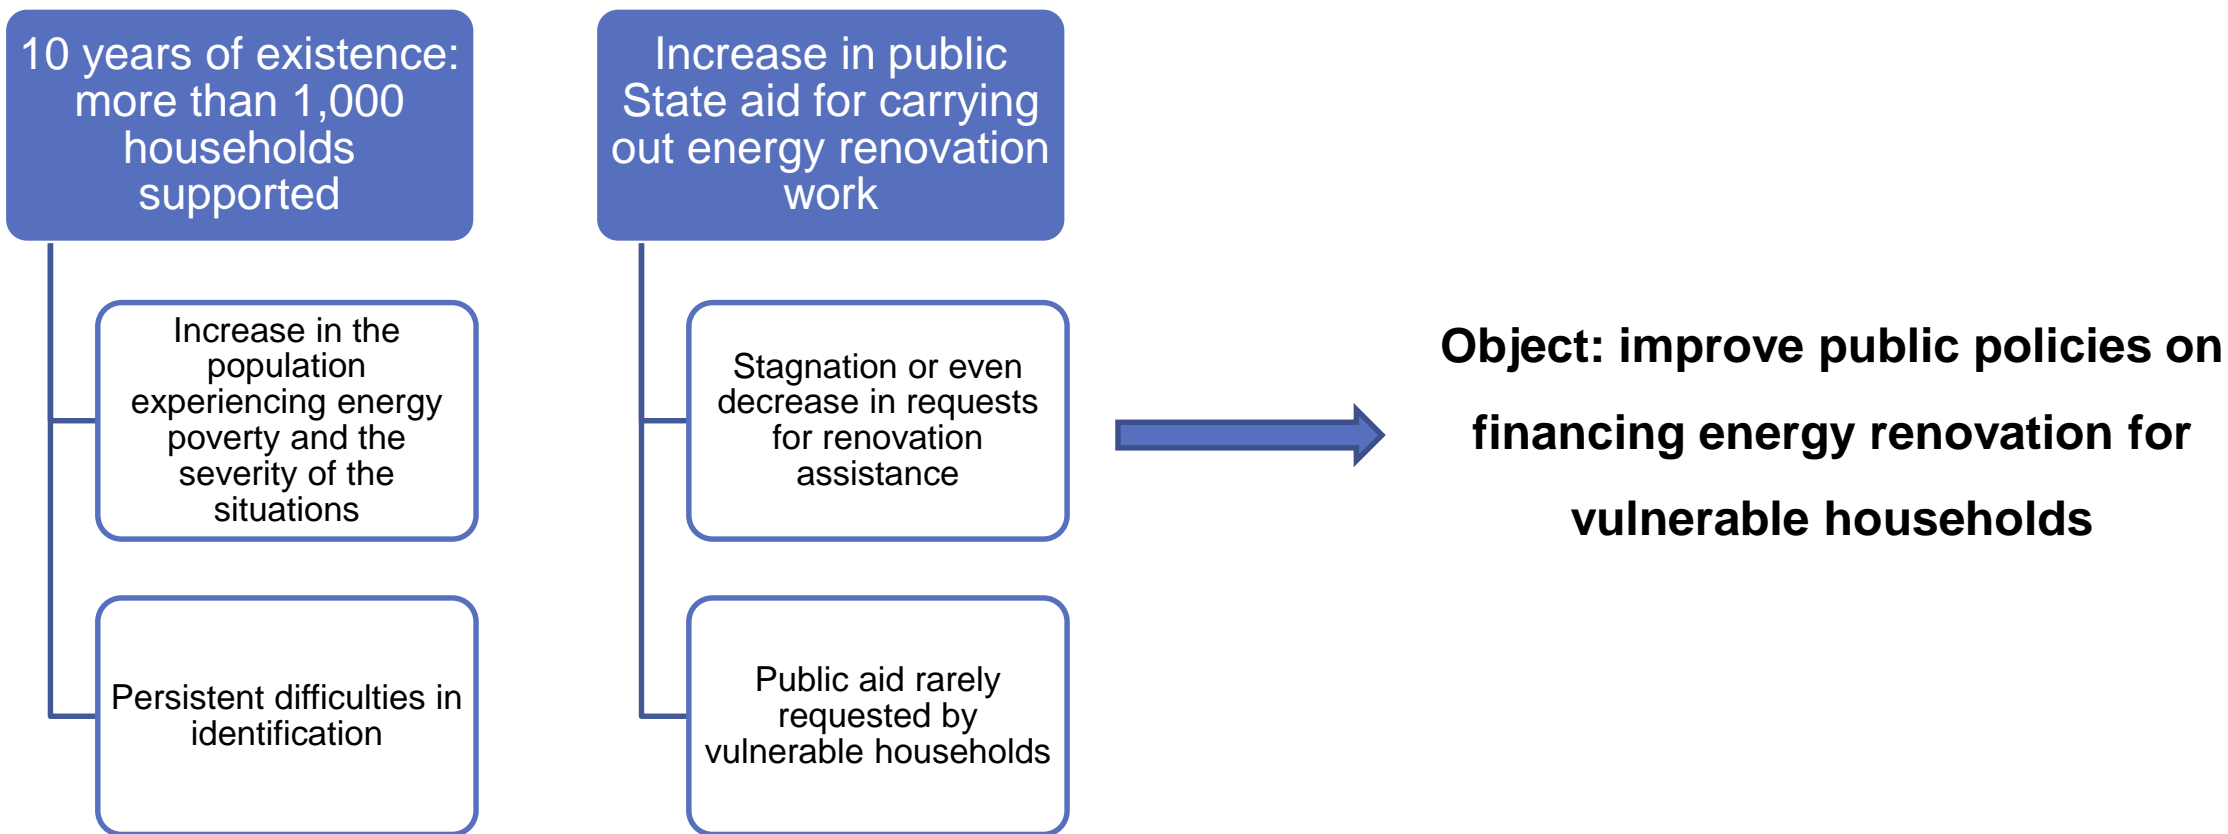

Barcelona, 15th of October 2024

The community-based program to tackle energy poverty in Great Besançon Area

Technical assistance context

TEAM	SUPPORT
City Council of Besançon - Energy Management Directorate Antony JOLY, Director Agnès SERRES, Head of the Research and Foresight Department Mireia MATENCIO, Energy poverty coordinator Besançon Metropolis - Directorate of Housing, Accommodation, and Support for Nomadic communities François PEZZOLI, Director Boris DEGRIEVE, Head of the Housing Department Anna GHERARDI, Private Housing Project Officer	Françoise REFABERT, Filaolabs Marie POURCHOT, Energies Demain Lola DONIER, Energies Demain Jennifer DAUDE, Energies Demain

Phase 1: Diagnosis

Taking into account the energy costs of the year 2022, the rate of housing in energy poverty in Besançon would be around 30% instead of 14,5%

Results:

Effectiveness of energy poverty tackling policies

- Need to ensure the longevity of this program
- Need to improve the ability to identify households, particularly in rural areas

Areas of improvement

- Identify a support pathway based on the profile of each household and its situation
- Boost the supply of professionals
- Leverage financing tools – Action plan

Phase 2: Action plan

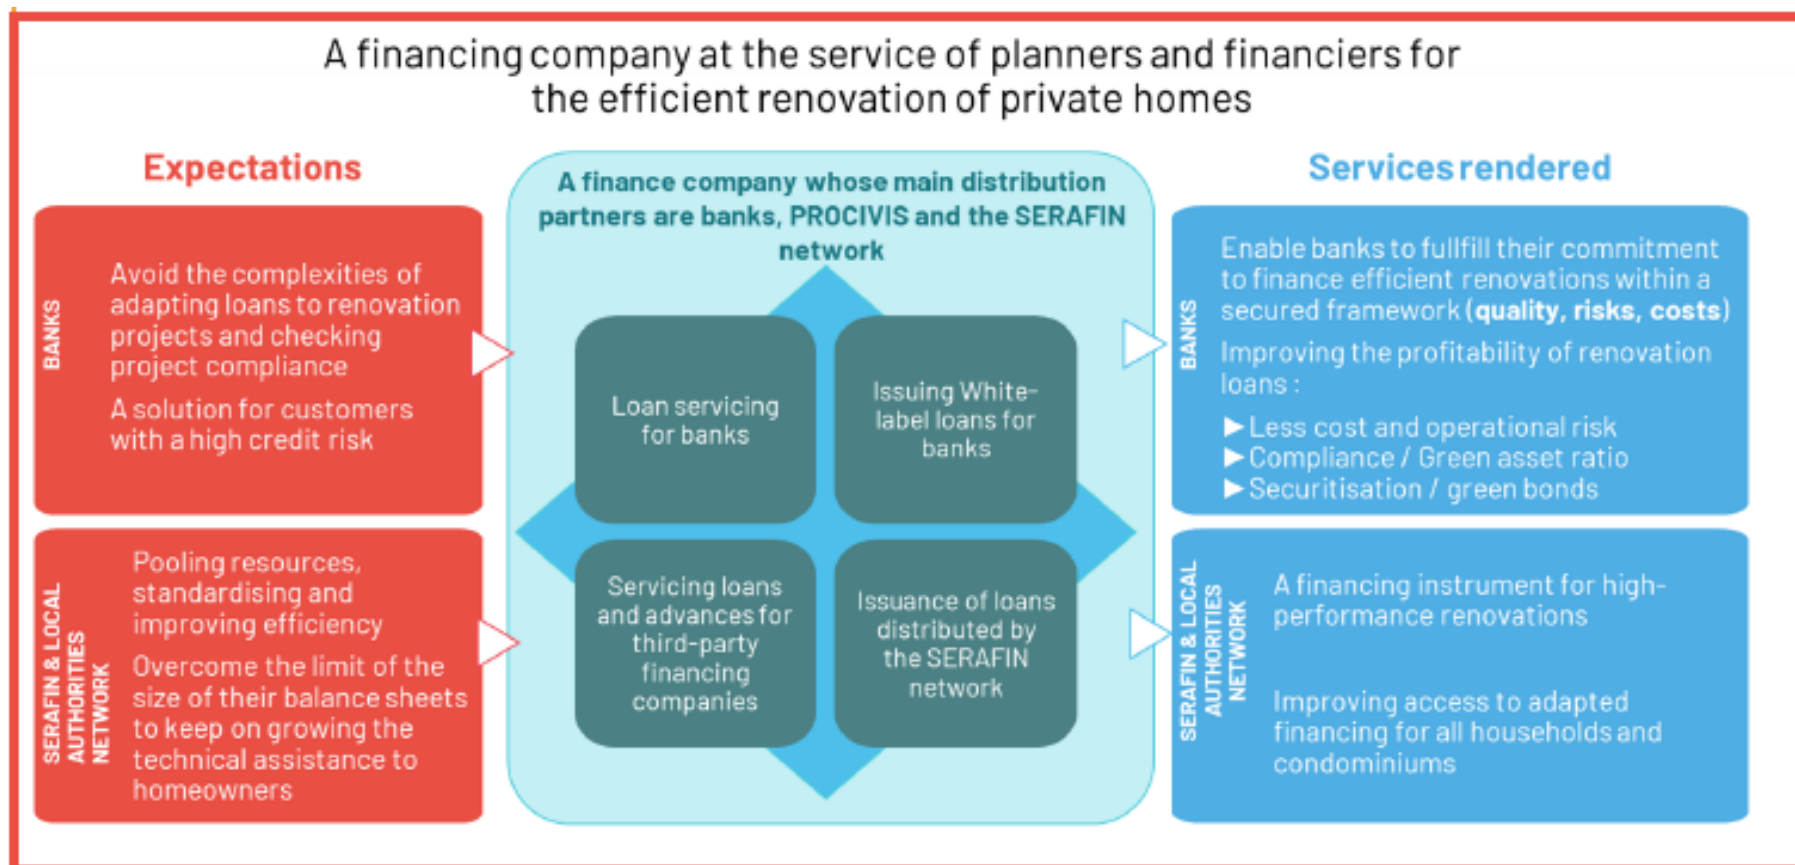

- Review the distribution criteria of financial aid of the Metropolis and the pre-finance solutions
 - Internal action by the Metropolis
- Set-up a pre-finance solution for subsidies
 - Partnership action with local stakeholders
- Promote the distribution of eco-loans at 0% interests
 - Action towards professionals (banks)
- Set up a territorial assembler of high-performance renovation (one-stop shop)
 - Internal action by GBM, involving numerous stakeholders

A territorial assembler of high performance renovation – No one left behind

Fideo – Banque de la rénovation énergétique

Let's move forward together to strength and upscale the movement of Integrated Home Renovation Services (IHRS) providers (one-stop shops) and supporters across Europe

